The amount of the payable compensation for contract breach to the party without fault, either during the protected period, or outside the protected period, may be determined in the contract by the two contracting parties.
2. If the amount of the compensation is not determined in the contract, the following apply:

Any excess amount will be deducted and will be demanded by the FC once it has been paid.

The overall compensation may never exceed the rest value of i) and ii) sub-paragraphs of the present paragraph. The FC having a legitimate interest can request the relevant financial information from the new contract, from either the organizing authority or the HFF.

8. a) Any club acting in a way that aims to incite a breach of contract between a professional football player and a club, in order to facilitate the transfer of the player, will be sanctioned.
